In the event that Quick Plug and the Supplier have concluded a framework or master agreement, the following order applies in the event of conflicts: (1) contents of the framework or master agreement, (2) contents of an annex to the framework or master agreement, (3) contents of these general terms and conditions of purchase.

Article 3. Establishment of the Agreement

3.1 Quotations / offers / etc. from the Supplier are irrevocable and are valid for a minimum period of 90 days.

3.3 An Agreement between Quick Plug and the Supplier is only established if (i) Quick Plug has explicitly accepted a quotation / offer of the Supplier in writing or has sent a written confirmation in this regard and (ii) the Supplier has confirmed Quick Plug' order in writing. In the event that the Supplier fails to confirm Quick Plug' order in writing within 5 days after Quick Plug issued the order, it is assumed that the Supplier has confirmed Quick Plug' order in writing and the Agreement is nevertheless established. To the extent that the Agreement is a framework or master agreement, it is established after both Quick Plug and the Supplier have accepted the Agreement in writing.

3.4 Oral orders / instructions do not bind Quick Plug, unless Quick Plug has confirmed the oral order / instructions in writing.

3.5 All costs involved in preparing a quotation / offer come at the Supplier's expense.

3.6 In the event that Quick Plug has authorized certain (contact) persons within its organizations to perform the Agreement concluded with the Supplier, goods and services can and may only be ordered by these (contact) persons authorized by Quick Plug by means of an order. In the event that a person other than an authorized person sends an order, Quick Plug is at all times authorized to withdraw the order – at no cost.

3.7 The relationship between Quick Plug and the Supplier is non-exclusive. Quick Plug does not have any obligation to purchase goods and/or services.

3.8 Every Affiliate of Quick Plug within the meaning of section 2:24 b of the Dutch Civil Code ("DCC") have the right to purchase goods and/or services under the framework agreement concluded between Quick Plug and the Supplier.

3.9 If and as soon as an Affiliate places an order with the Supplier or otherwise purchases goods and/or services from the Supplier, an independent agreement has then come into force between the Supplier and the Affiliate. Quick Plug and/or another Affiliate will in no event be liable for any breach by the Affiliate that is purchasing the goods and/or services from the Supplier. The Supplier is not entitled to exercise any rights of setoff or retention against Quick Plug and/or another Affiliate in the event the purchasing Affiliate breaches any of its obligations towards the Supplier.

Article 4. Prices

Article 5. Delivery of goods

5.1 Goods must be delivered in the manner and time stipulated in the Agreement. Delivery is made DDP, Incoterms 2010, location of Quick Plug or Quick Plug's Affiliate.

5.2 The Supplier is in default if an agreed term for delivery of (parts of) the goods is exceeded. The Supplier will immediately notify Quick Plug in writing of any threat of late delivery. This notification is without prejudice to the possible consequences and liability in connection with this late delivery. If the delivery term is exceeded by 10 calendar days, in addition to compensation, the Supplier must pay an immediately payable penalty of 5% of the agreed price for the goods to be delivered, plus 1% of this agreed price for every week the late delivery continues. The statutory interest based on Section 6:119a of the DCC automatically starts as of the time the penalty is forfeited; thus, Quick Plug is not required to send the Supplier a notice of default in this regard.

5.3 Unless agreed otherwise in writing, the Supplier is not entitled to make partial deliveries. In the event that partial deliveries have been agreed upon, a delivery is also deemed to be a partial delivery for the application of these general terms and conditions of purchase.

5.4 Delivery of more or less than the quantity ordered is only agreed to if this has been explicitly agreed upon in writing.

5.5 Delivery also includes the delivery of all related auxiliary materials and all related documentation.

5.6 The delivery is completed the moment at which the goods have been accepted as delivered by or on behalf of Quick Plug and Quick Plug has signed for the delivery as evidence of its approval. The latter signing is without prejudice to the fact that the delivered goods can be rejected by virtue of Article 7 of these general terms and conditions of purchase. In addition, the Supplier cannot derive any right from the signing referred to in the first sentence of this article paragraph; consequently, the signing does not stand in the way (for example) of Quick Plug exercising its rights (inter alia) on account of a culpable failure on the part of the Supplier.

5.7 The Supplier is not authorized to suspend its delivery obligation in the event that Quick Plug fails to fulfill (any of) its obligations.

5.8 The Supplier hereby waives all rights and powers it is entitled to by virtue of the right of retention or the right to claim back unpaid goods.

7.3 The Supplier cannot derive any right from the results of an inspection or examination referred to in Article 7.1 or from the omission of such inspection or examination.

7.4 Quick Plug will never be bound to any term stipulated by the Supplier within which Quick Plug must indicate that the delivered goods are rejected or at least the term within which Quick Plug must lodge a complaint.

Article 8. Title and risk

Article 11. Prepayment

11.1 In the event that prepayment has been agreed upon, Quick Plug is entitled to demand at all times that the Supplier furnishes security for the prepaid amount to Quick Plug' satisfaction, for example in the form of a bank guarantee.

11.2 In the event of prepayment for the production of a good or work, the title to the good or work passes to Quick Plug at the time the prepayment is made.

of these general terms and conditions of purchase, all this without prejudice to Quick Plug' other rights on account of failures (including the right to compensation). All related costs (including the costs of repair and disassembly) come at the Supplier's expense.

13.4 In urgent cases and in cases in which it must be reasonably assumed following consultations with the Supplier that the latter will fail to fulfill its obligations, Quick Plug is entitled to repair or replace the article itself at the Supplier's expense or to have this done by third parties. This does not discharge the Supplier from its obligations under the Agreement.

13.5 Unless agreed otherwise in writing, a warranty term of three (3) years after delivery of the goods or performance of the services applies.

13.6 The Supplier warrants that after delivery, it will be able to supply parts of the delivered goods and/or services to Quick Plug for a minimum period of five (5) years.

13.7 An agreed warranty term recommences after the repairs, replacement or supplements to which the warranty terms apply have been accepted.

Article 14. Unfair advantage

14.1 The Supplier declares, ensures and warrants that:

- in fulfilling the Agreement, it will refrain from improperly or inappropriately encouraging or ensuring any unfair advantage for Quick Plug or Quick Plug employees (or having this done), inter alia by

The Supplier limits access to Confidential Information to the persons who need this information for (fulfilling) the Agreement. Unless Quick Plug' prior written consent has been obtained, the Supplier will not disclose any Confidential Information or any part thereof to any person, firm, company or other entity; the Supplier will not use the Confidential Information or any part thereof for any purpose other than for (fulfilling) the Agreement.

15.2 The duty of confidentiality referred to in Article 15.1 does not apply to information for which the Supplier can provide written evidence demonstrating that such information:

- was fully in the Supplier's possession prior to the disclosure by Quick Plug without the Supplier being bound by a duty of confidentiality in respect of Quick Plug or a third party; or
- at the time of disclosure by Quick Plug was already generally known or available or subsequently became generally known or available other than as the result of an act or omission on the part of the Supplier; or

15.3 The Supplier is required to impose the same obligation referred to in Article 15.1 upon its employees or third parties called in by the Supplier in fulfilling the Agreement. The Supplier warrants that these employees / third parties will not act in breach of the duty of confidentiality.

Article 16. Intellectual property

16.1 To the extent that any intellectual property rights apply to goods delivered by the Supplier and/or services rendered by the Supplier, including the related documents, which the Supplier can prove already existed prior to the Agreement coming into effect and which were held by the Supplier or were developed independent of (fulfilling) the Agreement, those intellectual property rights are held by the Supplier. The Supplier grants Quick Plug a non-exclusive, perpetual, irrevocable, worldwide and transferable right of use regarding such intellectual property rights for any purpose that is related to Quick Plug' business or activities. This right of use granted to Quick Plug also comprises the right to grant such a right of use to its (possible) buyers or to other third parties with whom Quick Plug maintains a relationship in connection with the performance of its business.

16.3 The Supplier indemnifies Quick Plug against any third-party claims that result from any infringement of the rights mentioned in Article 16.2 of these general terms and conditions of purchase; the Supplier will compensate Quick Plug for all damage that results from such infringement.

16.4 All drawings, materials and other auxiliary materials that Quick Plug provided or which the Supplier produced or purchased at Quick Plug' expense are the property of Quick Plug and can be immediately claimed by Quick Plug at all times. The Supplier will manage all these auxiliary materials and keep them in good condition at its own expense and risk. 16.5 All intellectual property rights regarding all materials, methods, data, drawings, information, reports, know-how, inventions, trade secrets, improvements, techniques and other results, as well as related documentation, which arise in connection with or as the result of any relationship (including the Agreement) between Quick Plug and the Supplier will be exclusively held by Quick Plug from the time such rights are established. To the extent required, the Supplier hereby unconditionally transfers those intellectual property rights to Quick Plug for no consideration; Quick Plug accepts this transfer. In the event that a deed or other formal transaction is required for the transfer or to enter the transfer in the relevant registers, the Supplier hereby assures that it will render its unconditional cooperation for this, or hereby irrevocably authorizes Quick Plug to effectuate that transfer or the entry of such transfer (or other formal transaction), should the occasion arise.

16.6 In the event that the Supplier collects and records information in connection with the delivery of goods and/or services to and/or the performance of work for Quick Plug (hereinafter: the "Data"), these Data are designated as Confidential Information referred to in Article 15.1; the Supplier is required to maintain absolute confidentiality regarding such Data. At Quick Plug' initial request to this effect, the Data will be provided to Quick Plug; without Quick Plug' prior consent, the Data will not be shared with any party other than Quick Plug. 20.4 Each time at Quick Plug' initial request to this effect, the Supplier will send Quick Plug a copy of the statements regarding its payment record with the Tax Authorities.

20.5 Quick Plug is always entitled to pay the Supplier the amount Quick Plug owes the Supplier under the Agreement that corresponds to the national insurance contributions, value added tax and wage tax payable by the Supplier in connection with the performance of the Agreement for which Quick Plug could be liable by virtue of the Invorderingswet 1990 (Collection of State Taxes Act 1990) and related Implementing Regulations for the Liability of Recipients, Subcontractors and Clients 2004 by payment into the Supplier's blocked account referred to in the Collection of State Taxes Act 1990 and related Implementing Regulations for the Liability of Recipients, Subcontractors and Clients 2004. At Quick Plug' initial request to this effect, the Supplier must open and keep such a blocked account.

20.6 Without prejudice to the provisions of the previous paragraph, Quick Plug is at all times authorized to deduct the previously mentioned amounts in national insurance contributions, value added tax and wage tax from the contract price and to pay these amounts directly to the Tax Authorities on behalf of the Supplier.

22.2 If and to the extent that a provision of the Agreement is invalid or – under the given circumstances – unreasonable based on standards of reasonableness and fairness, a provision will apply between the parties whose objective corresponds to the original provision to the extent possible and is acceptable, taking all circumstances into account.
